

Dr Gary Mitchell MBE Introduces The Delirium E-Resource

0:00

Hi there, my name's Gary and I'm work at Queens University in Belfast and I'm delighted to present to you this Delirium E resource. This Delirium E resource has been kindly funded by the HEA in Ireland as part of their All Ireland initiative. We were delighted to work with colleagues from the University in Limerick in the design of this resource. Most importantly, this E resource that you're about to access has been Co designed by Medical, Nursing, Pharmacy and Allied Health students. Throughout your Learning in this era course we'll take you on a journey. You will learn about what delirium is. You will learn about how to assess patients who are experiencing delirium. You will also learn about how to provide care and manage those patients with delirium. Further, we will talk about how to prevent delirium in your patient populations and to finalise. The resource will also be showing you how you can work together as a multidisciplinary team to provide person centred holistic care to people with delirium. I really hope you enjoy this resource.

0:31

1:01

On behalf of my colleagues at Queens University Belfast and the University of Limerick, we say good luck for your learning. Thank you.